Re-opening

Café Dix at the Berlinische Galerie re-opens with BARK Berlin Culinary GmbH

Café Dix at the Berlinische Galerie has re-opened under new management with BARK Berlin. From Wednesday to Monday between 10 am and 6 pm the kitchen serves cake, coffee and other beverages, seasonal dishes, salads, snacks and a frequently changing menu of hot meals – all freshly prepared with an eye to supreme quality.

“We are delighted to have found a partner in BARK Berlin Culinary to cater for the discerning standards we so value. We want our visitors to enjoy their time at the Berlinische Galerie in every respect, and that means not only our inspiring exhibitions and accompanying events but also our museum shop and an attractive choice of refreshments in an inviting atmosphere,” says Dr Thomas Köhler, director of the Berlinische Galerie.

The two founders of BARK Berlin Culinary are keen to expand their sustainable, contemporary operations. Frederik Jagla and Antonio Rilling look forward to serving their new location in Kreuzberg: “Café Dix by BARK Berlin will uphold our culinary approach with its focus on regional, seasonal produce. We will match the purist design of the café by placing the quality of our ingredients and of the products themselves centre stage.”

BARK Berlin Culinary, founded in Berlin in 2014 as Barkin’Kitchen, are committed to serving top-quality food in stylish settings. They now run three outlets, including the café at the exhibition venue C/O Berlin. BARK also operate as a caterer and culinary agency for trade fairs and large-scale events.

The team have many years of experience in the trade. Frederik Jagla trained as a chef at the Hotel Adlon and then in food and beverage management with Kempinski before qualifying as a certified business manager for the hospitality sector. Antonio Rilling has roots in marketing and event management. After graduating with an MA from the European University Viadrina, he worked for FluxFM and the agency BOLD in Berlin and Los Angeles.

In 2021 Café Dix at the Berlinische Galerie underwent major refurbishment. The interior design by Kinzo Architects with furnishings from the creative Berlin brand Objekte Unserer Tage (OUT) will remain just as it is under the new team. In the summer months visitors can relax outside on the spacious terrace. And the premises can, as ever, be hired for parties and other events.
